

PRIVACY POLICY

Welcome to Trip2B ("Trip2B", "we" or "us"), the tool for networking during your business trips. By using this website (the "Website") you agree to be bound by this Privacy Policy, which is an integral part of the Terms of Use. If you object to anything in this Privacy Policy, do not use the Website.

Trip2B is committed to protecting your privacy. We are bound by the strict rules of Belgian and European privacy legislation, which prevents us from making unlawful use of your personal data. This Privacy Policy outlines the types of personal data we gather, how we use it, with whom we share it, the means by which we keep it secure, and the choices you have about your personal data.

What personal data do we collect?

We collect the following personal data from you:

- * Our server automatically logs certain information, such as your IP address, your browser type, the date and time of your visit and the pages you (previously) visited this information is linked to your account if you are logged in on the Website.

- * When you register on the Website, we collect your professional email, company and function. Your password will not be stored in a readable form.

- * We will store the information about the trips you plan. This information, together with your company, function and email domain (not full email), will only be visible to other people who plan a trip in an overlapping time frame and whose trip is 'nearby' in distance (depending on the number of trips on that moment this distance can vary).

- * We give you the option to link your profiles of other networking sites to your trip2B profile. The link to these profiles will only be visible to other members who also have linked their respective profiles, not to others.

- * We store information about your conversations with other members, such as the date, time, and participants.

- * We record your conversations with us (whether in writing, by email or otherwise).

You acknowledge that some of the above information may constitute sensitive types of personal data. You also acknowledge that we may (but are not obliged to) review your personal data before or after it is uploaded to the Website.

The Website may also show banners and publicity from third parties. These third parties do not receive any information about you from us, although they may use themselves cookies and other tracking tools, and may store various information about you. You can consult their privacy policy at their corresponding websites.

Public visibility of your profile

The information you provide is only visible to members who have planned a business trip in the same time frame and whose trip is 'nearby' in distance (depending on the number of trips on that moment this distance can vary). These members will see your company name, function and email domain (which allows them to validate your company). If these members have linked their trip2B profile to other networking tool profiles, they will also be able to see links to your profiles from other networking tools, if you have linked these to your trip2B profile (principle of reciprocity in information sharing).

What About Internet Protocol (IP) Addresses?

The Website logs your IP address, but does not link your IP addresses to personal data unless you are logged in on the Website. We use these IP addresses to analyse trends, administer the Website, and gather broad demographic information about our visitors.

What about cookies?

The Website uses cookies – small pieces of information stored by your web browser – to recognize you as a previous visitor. Third parties do not receive access to the cookies stored by your web browser.

You can adjust the settings of your web browser to erase or block cookies if you want to. Please keep in mind, however, that if you do so, you may not be able to use or access certain features of the Website, or they may not work very well.

For which purposes do we use your personal data?

We use your personal data:

- * for general management of members
- * to allow other members to see information about your company and function and email domain
- * to allow other members to contact you after you have explicitly confirmed interest in networking with the other member
- * to send you communications about the Website
- * to customize the advertising and content you see on the Website
- * to improve any aspect of the Website
- * to protect the Website and all members against fraud and misuse
- * to generate statistics about the Website and its members

How do we handle "sensitive" personal data about you?

Considering the nature of the website, you should realize that we gather business trip data about you, as well as your conversations with other members. While this type of data is used by our servers to bring you into contact with other members, such is performed in an automatic way. Trip2B employees do never access this personal data, and it is never communicated to third parties. Please be aware, however, that all your personal data may be conveyed to competent authorities to investigate fraud or misuse.

How long do we store your personal data?

We store your personal data throughout the lifetime of your account, and during a period of 3 months thereafter.

Links to other websites

To provide you with a more complete resource for networking information and services, the Website contains links to certain other websites. You may be required to register on these external website in order to take advantage of that web site's services. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of these external websites: you should refer to these websites' privacy policies for details.

Is your personal data secure?

This Website takes precautions to protect your personal data. We use on-line security measures, such as authentication, to protect your personal data. Please note, however, that no transmission over the Internet can be 100% secure.

With whom do we share your personal data?

We may share relevant personal data about you with competent authorities, in case of lawful requests (e.g., to investigate fraud) or when we reasonably believe we are required to do so by law, or when we deem it appropriate or necessary to provide such information to law enforcement authorities. We could also occasionally send general anonymized statistics about the Website to interested third parties. Such statistics will, however, not allow anyone to identify you.

Where is your personal data stored?

By using the Website, you agree that your personal data may be processed outside the European Union by, or on behalf of, Trip2B. By giving us your personal data, you explicitly consent to the personal data being transferred outside the European Union.

What will you do with my email address?

We will occasionally send you information regarding your account and the Website. In addition, we may send you emails with commercial information about our products and services, or products and services from third parties.

What are your rights?

You have the right to access your personal data, as collected and processed by Trip2B, and to obtain the modification or deletion of data that is incorrect or that is unnecessary for the purposes for which the data was collected. You also have the right to object, free of charge, against the use of your personal data for direct marketing purposes. To exercise these rights, you can either login to the Website with your username and password and navigate to your profile page, or contact us.

Changes to the Privacy Policy

If we ever change the Privacy Policy, we will post that information on this Privacy Policy page, and we will send a change notice by email to registered members of the Website. We invite you to come back from time to time to review the policy.

This privacy policy was first effective on 4 January 2009.
